FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MacAulay-Brown, Inc. Opens Fort Gordon Office

The Augusta Economic Development Authority announced today that MacAulay-Brown, Inc. (MacB), a leading National Security company delivering advanced engineering services and product solutions to Defense, Intelligence, Special Operations Forces, Homeland Security and Federal agencies, is opening its newest office near Fort Gordon in Augusta. The addition of the Fort Gordon office significantly increases the company's presence and reach into United States Army Cyber Command and intelligence units, as well as TRADOC's Cyber and Signal Centers of Excellence located at Fort Gordon.

MacB's Cyber, Command, Control, Communications, Computers, Intelligence, Surveillance and Reconnaissance (C4ISR) and Information Operations (IO) solutions and services are designed to immediately identify, respond and neutralize threats, as well as identify and exploit vulnerabilities in target environments. The new office provides additional logistical support to the company to increase strategic new business opportunities and to cultivate critical relationships with key military, civilian and business leaders located at, and around, Fort Gordon.

The office opening comes on the heels of MacB announcing the addition of Lieutenant General (Ret.) Rhett Hernandez, former commander of United States Army Cyber Command, to its Board of Advisors. In addition, it furthers MacB's expansion into the mid-Atlantic region, which it has identified as an area of strategic growth for the company.

Henry Ingram, Chairman of the Augusta Economic Development Authority, said "We are thrilled to have MacB to be a part of our Cyber Command business community here in Augusta. They are an outstanding company with a sterling reputation."

"We have long supported many of the intelligence units located at Fort Gordon," said Sid Fuchs, President and CEO of MacB. "The opening of our newest office in Augusta reflects our continued commitment to working closely with our customers. At the same time, it expands our ability to provide Army Cyber Command, the Cyber and Signal Centers of Excellence and other Joint Cyber organizations with our unique Cyber capabilities."

The Fort Gordon office is located at 3633 Wheeler Road, Suite 330 in Augusta. MacB Vice President, Dan Gutierrez has been selected to lead the new office and all Fort Gordon initiatives for the company.
